

Turton Drops Anchor In Engineering Deal

Acquisition of South Yorkshire Engineering Limited

Successful spring manufacturers Turton Springs, who have customers including Rolls-Royce and Bentley and sales approaching £25 million, has acquired the specialist manufacturer South Yorkshire Engineering.

South Yorkshire Engineering's international reputation for quality manufacturing is well established with products including anchors for oil rigs and roof and floor supports for car parks.

The latest deal gives the enlarged group, whose umbrella name is Opportunity Group Holdings, critical mass and creates a platform for rapid acquisition - led growth.

Turton Springs is an ambitious, growing company with a forward thinking management team and the takeover of a go-ahead business like South Yorkshire Engineering reflects its determination to expand its portfolio and establish a really strong engineering presence both in the UK and abroad.
