

Company Opens the Door to a New Future

Management Buy-Out of Frontline GB

A Sheffield company at the forefront of the security industry is under new ownership after being taken over in a management buy-out.

Frontline GB specialises in the design and manufacture of commercial aluminium windows and doors for conventional, security and specialist protection markets.

The company's security products cover doors, windows and counters offering varying degrees of ballistic resistance. Another important area of manufacture includes blast proof windows and doors which have won the company contracts for Government, military and private installations both in the UK and overseas.
